Parish History / Church of Our lady, Star of the Sea.

To help with Parish History, a book is being placed beside the Memorial Card Unit in Bundoran Church, to help ensure that the yearly listings of Parishioners buried in St. Ninnidh's and Finner Cemeteries are correct. While such listings are generally in order, it is important that the Parish Office is notified in relation to any errors which may exist within the information. The overall information is usually supplied by local undertakers and families. The book should NOT be removed but necessary additional information be written on paper and given into the Parish Office. Emailing is another form of written help. The present book includes some information from 1900 - 2019. While the names and places of burial are usually correct, the addresses and exact dates of death are not always available so we ask everyone who may be associated with the listing, to check the information and where necessary, bring additional knowledge to the Parish Office.

The available names of those buried in the two cemeteries has now passed two thousand.

Other aspects of Parish History such as books, photographs, varied information etc. are still being gathered and will ultimately result in a wonderful collection of facts and memories which helped to develop the Faith of days gone by and is the basis of the faith which we live today. One such area of history is the dates and names written on the chalices and ciboria used for Mass down through the years. The earliest dates on local chalices are 1758 and 1769 - very interesting considering the Star of the Sea Church was not built until 1860. A ciborium with the original name of the Parish (Inishmacsaint) also exists. The Parish has twenty chalices and ciboria, many of which are dated and are very old. The reason why so many chalices etc. exist is due to the old priestly obligation of celebrating daily Mass, before con-celebration became acceptable. In days gone by, when many Priests were on holiday in Bundoran, 6 / 7 chalices / altars were in use while a similar number of chalices stood in readiness for the next set of celebrants. Some local parishioners would still remember serving Mass in those days and the pennies they received. Two history books are available of priestly names who celebrated Mass in Bundoran. They begin in 1910 -47 and finish in 1948 -88. The modern books then came into use and are still used today.

Blessing of the Cemetery at St. Joseph's Church, the Rock, Sunday August 11th. at 11am Mass.

Congratulations to the members of Tus, our Parishioners and those caring for family graves at St. Joseph's in anticipation of Cemetery Sunday. During the past thirty years, the care of the cemetery has been obvious and continually improving. It's present condition and the addition of future space has finalized plans put together many years ago. It's future maintenance and care will be important and future planning will always be necessary. The recording of deceased names and grave-space is also important for the future - perhaps some retired Parishioners might dedicate some time to such an activity - contact the Parish Committee.

All Church envelopes/donations are presumed to be for the up-keep of Bundoran Church due to it's ongoing debt.
